Recently, Santos kicked off his tour, “Formula Vol. 3 - The Tour” in Europe and South America for 2023. He broke record sales in Lima, Peru with four sold out stadium dates for 80,000 people. In Chile, Romeo Santos sold out nine stadium dates in Arena de Santiago for a total of 120,000 fans. In Madrid, Spain, Santos sold out four nights and added dates to certain countries that were sold out shows. Ongoing dates in South America and Europe continue for the “Formula Vol. 3 - Tour” with breaking stadium records for a performer.

On May 20th and May 21st, Romeo Santos will make his stadium presence in Puerto Rico for the first time in the Hiram Bighorn Stadium. After, he will perform on May 27th at the iconic Coliseo (Colosseum) de Puerto Rico, which is currently sold out.

This April, he made a groundbreaking debut with an exclusive interview on the Tonight Show with Jimmy Fallon. In addition, he presented a blended performance of his two recent mega hits “Mi Suegra” and “Solo Conmigo” from his latest album, “Formula Vol. 3.”

“Formula Vol.3,” his fifth solo album, is multi- platinum for its sales and currently obtains +1.1B streams. Today, Romeo is one of the most listened to Latin artists on Spotify and viewed on YouTube. In 2014, Santos made a big milestone by making history after selling out several shows at NY Yankee Stadium (50,000 people) and being one of the first Latin artists at a young age to sell out stadiums. In his career, Santos has sold out Met Life, Dodger, Hard Rock, NY Yankee’s Stadium (several times) and Wrigley Stadium to name a few. Romeo Santos has broken charts and achieved a “Spanglish” tone, and crossing-over top international artists into his bachata blend such as Justin Timberlake, Usher, Drake, Karol G, Lil Wayne, Akon, Nicki Minaj, Carlos Santana, Marc Anthony, Bad Bunny, ROSALÍA, Enrique Iglesias and many more.
